Recovering information related to slavery and the enslaved from historical archives poses many challenges. Join Kelley Deetz, Ph.D., Postdoctoral Research Associate for the President’s Commission on Slavery and the University, to discuss strategies for uncovering hidden narratives from archival sources. Deetz will discuss her ongoing research on Virginia's enslaved cooks, as well as the interdisciplinary research methods she will use to research the enslaved community at UVa. Kelley Deetz holds a B.A. in Black Studies from William and Mary and a M.A. and Ph.D. in African American Studies from U.C. Berkeley. Come with questions related to your own research projects or interests!

7pm, November 18
Scholars’ Lab, Alderman Library, Room 421